

Rock and Kite

©2009 Mark Lemaire

I'll be the rock, you be the kite.
Fly as high as you feel, I'm holding tight
I'm standing. keeping you in sight.
I'll be the rock, you be the kite.

I'll be the kite, you be the rock
Even when I'm crazy, even when I'm lost
You're my connection back to the ground
I'll be the kite, you be the rock

The earth is miles below, I'm singing in the blue
Then I'm on the ground and the flying one is you
I'll give you what you need when you need to fly
The rock on the ground, the kite in the sky.

We lay on the ground and look up at the stars
There are the lovers--Venus and Mars
I'll give you what you need when you need to fly
Lovers on the ground, stars in the sky.

I'll be the stars, you be the night
The thread connects us just out of sight
Sleep close, darling-- close your eyes
I'll be the stars, and you be the night.

from the CD "Home Isn't Home" by Mark Lemaire and Twilight
www.marklemaire.com/

